ADDITIONAL ARCHITECTURAL AND STRUCTURAL DESCRIPTION:

The McLure house is a 1 1/2 story, gable-roofed, greek revival style structure. The sidehall entry has been covered over and the house is now entered by a 1 story, shed-roofed enclosed porch on the south elevation. The medium pitched roof is topped by a narrow, corbel capped chimney and the roofline has a boxed cornice with a sloped soffit along the lateral eaves. Simulated stone siding has been applied to the porch and the lower front facade of the main block. The structure rests upon a fieldstone foundation. The 1 story gable roofed ell has asbestos shingle siding, two over two windows, a narrow corbel capped chimney and a fieldstone foundation. A 1 story flat roofed wing projects to the south of the main block and connects with a 1 story, gable roofed garage.
