ADDITIONAL ARCHITECTURAL AND STRUCTURAL DESCRIPTION:
The Cross house is a 2-story, Georgian style structure. The center entry has a 6 paneled door surmounted by a transom with five lights and flanked by tapering pilasters which rise to meet an entablature. All of the windows have nine over six sash framed by architrave trim except for one six over six window in each gable.

The low pitched roof is topped by two inset chimneys and the roofline has close raking eaves and a boxed cornice with a large molding below the soffit on the lateral eaves. A granite slab foundation supports the main block.

A 1-story, 14 x 99 ft., dormer supported by omitting brick columns projects to the west of the main block. The 1-story, 10 x 25 ft., shed roofed wing with clapboard siding, nine over six and one over one windows and a fieldstone foundation. It is topped by a tall, narrow, chimney with a vault. Projecting to the west is a 1 story gable roofed wing with clapboard siding, nine over six and one over one windows and a fieldstone foundation.

RELATED STRUCTURES AND CONTEXT: To the west of the main block is an attached 1-story barn with clapboard siding, sliding vertical board doors, nine over six windows and a fieldstone foundation. Projecting from the south elevation of the barn is a 1-story, shed roofed shed. Several chicken coops are located to the northwest of the main block.
